Dear President Snow:

Although you have been over here at Dixie for quite awhile I have never forgotten when you were the principal over at Hurricane.

We have surely missed
you and we knew you for a very good principal and friend.

Thanks for all you have done for me.

FOREWORD

In years to come, may this yearbook be invaluable as a remembrance of the days spent here in Dixie College. May it be with you always and give you many happy hours of contented reminiscence; may it mean more to you seniors who are standing on the portal of a new venture, and you juniors, sophomores and freshmen, who have many fond memories of the friends and companions who have passed on to other fields of learning. Herein are pictured the men of Dixie who are going to fight for our beloved country; to defend it against all enemies. Some may come back heroes and some may die heroes. May this yearbook be an everlasting memoriam to each of these heroes. May we look through it and point to each picture with pride and gratitude and realize that those who are gone on to another life have not given their lives in vain.

Each Friday when the assembly is over the students flock down the stairs, all eager to get the latest edition of the D. J. C. First you see them scanning the pages to see if it has anything about themselves or their friends. As the students read the paper they chat with their associates about school events that have happened and events that are coming in the near future.

Students are grateful for such hours as are spent in friendly chats and jesting. Thus, through the informality of it all, worthwhile friendships are made, leaving with the students many happy memories.

To relax and have a pleasant hour of informal recreation, such as we get in our assembly programs, is something that is looked forward to each week by all. The opportunity it affords for students to participate and make use of their talents, to gain the experience of standing and performing before an audience, is invaluable as an educative measure. Such assemblies are excellent examples of life in a democracy, and we are indeed thankful that we may laugh and make merry as we please.

Our institute offers us hours of recreation of the highest type, and provides for us an opportunity to add to our lives a religious philosophy.

DEDICATION

To the everchanging signs of the zodiac which usher the years on their way and to the tender memories we have of one of its cycles, we dedicate this yearbook, another of Dixie's monuments with a new inscription, the DIXILOG.

To you seniors who stand on the portals of a new field of learning, whether it be from printed pages in universities, or from the rhetorical pages of the book of life, we especially dedicate this yearbook. May it bring you many hours of loving remembrance.

To you who return to Dixie, we offer this book as a milestone for you to carry on from to even greater goals than we have realized.

To you men who are in and to you who are going into the service of "Uncle Sam", we say for everyone left behind, "God bless you and speed your safe return."

Classes at our school generally prove to be interesting and fun as well as instructive. Cooperation between student and teacher is what makes the classes worthwhile; and we students realize that we get out of our classes only as much as we put into them, so with open minds and willing attitudes we attend classes each day, eager to get something in return for time spent and energy put forth.

In our mind's eye we will always have a picture of the buildings and classrooms that have become dearer to us as each day that we spend in them with our friends passes.

Events here at Dixie have made us more conscious of our patriotic duty, helped us to see the part we can play in our nation's trouble, and made us resolve that we will carry our share of the burden.

GLENN E. SNOW
President of the Dixie Junior College

Faculty

To Dixie Junior College Student Body:

No other school year in our experience can be more momentous than this one. This will be something to remember—the friends we have made, the programs in which we have participated, and the high hopes we hold during this school year—will all be important to us and worth the record in our book of memories.

Each of us will go to a separate field of action and we will be employed over the face of the earth. What education and values we have gained among our associates here at Dixie and in these old halls will go with us to help determine our success and in some measure, the success of right and justice throughout the world. As we are judged so shall Dixie, as an institution, be judged.

We, all of us, wish each other well. We hope to associate in future days and in a happier and freer world. Many of us will have sons and daughters come to this beloved institution. We pledge ourselves that their hopes and joys shall not be more limited than ours.

Our Student Leaders

A Message from the Student Body Officers

It is with regret that we view the end of the school year, probably the last one for many of us for some time to come.

At the close of another year of education and learning, all of us should feel more fully prepared for whatever the future holds in store for us.

We, as student body officers, want to thank you, the student body, for your loyal support and cooperation; we want also to express our appreciation to President Snow and the faculty for their help and counsel.

We feel that this has been a successful year at Dixie Junior College—one that we will always remember.

Staff of the Dixilog

How is one to make permanent the passing moment; how explain the importance of the little individual days before they pass on forever? This is the purpose of a yearbook, and the staff, sensing this responsibility, have spent months of work and worry and wiles and worthwhile hours, and are now ready to present the result of their best efforts to you.

We are grateful for the opportunity we have had to prepare the "Dixilog" for 1943, realizing that through such service we have gained development ourselves.

Our sincere thanks is extended to Mr. Ken Burton of Stevens and Wallis, for his help and advice, and to you students and teachers for your cooperation. As it goes to the press, we have in our hearts the hope that it will be accepted by you with approval and satisfaction.

College Football

Dixie College had a fine football squad. However, due to the lack of tires and gasoline, they did not have a chance to show what they really could do. The games this year were really thrillers. The boys were always in there trying their "darndest." They did not get the "ax" from the B. A. C., but they gave them two good "scars": first, at Cedar City when the game was won by, what we like to call, a lucky touchdown; then again when the two teams battled to a scoreless tie.

The game with the B. A. C. is one looked forward to by all loyal Dixie football fans. It is always crammed full of action.

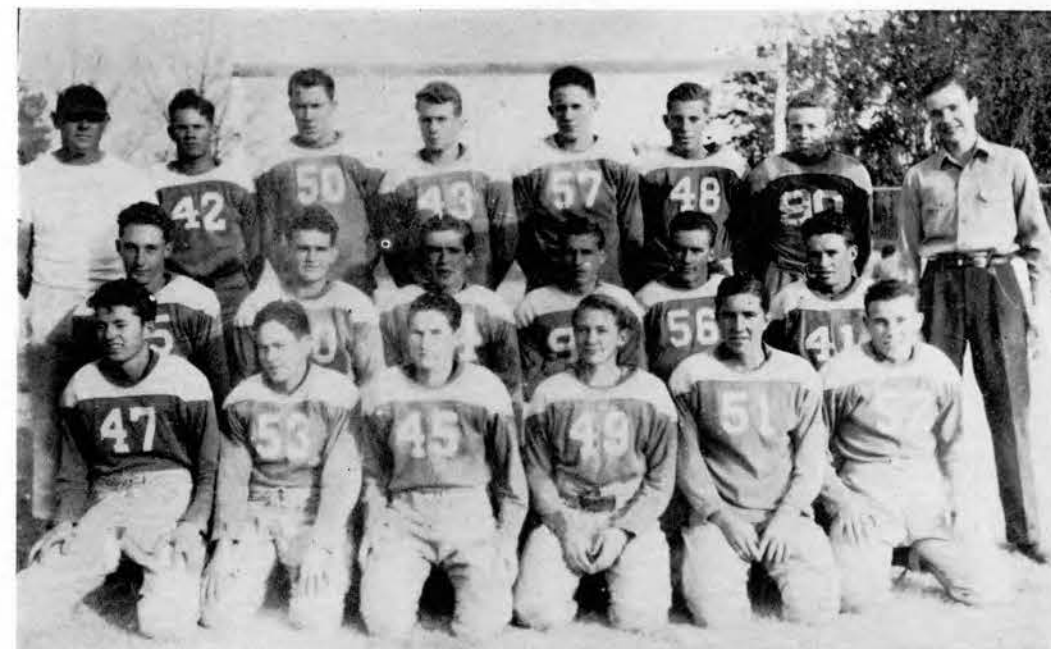

Snow College lost the game to Dixie this year by a big score. The Flyers really played ball that day.

This is our high school squad in action. This picture shows some real dropkicking.

High School Football

The high school football team made a good record this year. They ended the season with five wins and three losses. They played a fine game of "heads up" ball. The injury jinx hit a few times, but did not seriously injure the efficiency of the team.

Omega Delta

DRAMATICS

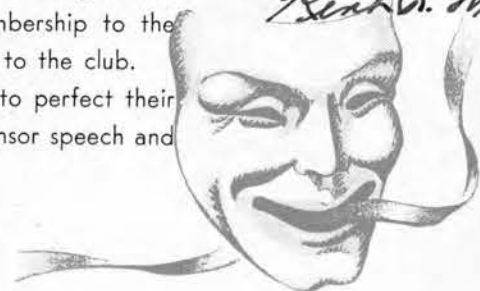

Comes the second Thursday of each month, comes the fourth Thursday of each month, and here comes the group of students who belong to Omega Delta, the speech and dramatic arts fraternity. And on nights of presentation of a play or other entertainments where ushering is needed, you will find a group of members ready in their blue and gold usher costumes to show people to their seats.

After showing outstanding talent in speech and dramatic art and after due consideration to the number and quality of public performances, pledges undergo initiation procedure and, if passed satisfactorily, take the oath of membership to the fraternity. Students of both upper and lower divisions are admitted to the club.

Omega Delta has as its aim—to give members an opportunity to perfect their talents, provide association with others of the same interests and sponsor speech and drama events, thus stimulating a greater interest in these arts.

*Dear President Snow,
I have certainly enjoyed the past winter at Dixie College. I have certainly found it a friendly school. I hope I will be able to return some day and further my education, but Uncle Sam beckons this summer and I hope I may answer his call. Again I say I have enjoyed attending Dixie college and working under such a fine president. Good luck to you, always.*

Piano Club

The love of music and an interest in the piano are requirements of all the members of the Piano Club. Beginner or expert may join if he or she is interested in further study. This is an organization created solely for development in the study of the piano, and music in general.

The members have an excellent opportunity to get together and exchange knowledge of piano techniques, and with the whole-hearted, unselfish help of their sponsor, Miss Falck, they make it a very worthwhile organization.

Campus Favorites

Wayne Holt and Misha Bentley were selected as the popular students of Dixie College and were honored the night of the Santa Claus Sweetheart Ball.

Each class selected a girl and a boy as its choice for the favorites, then a contest ensued in which students voted for their favorites by a penny a vote. Wayne was the choice of the juniors and Misha was the girl selected by the freshman class. The two were the choice of the student body.

Wayne came to school this year from Enterprise, where he graduated from high school. He is handsome, friendly, one of our star athletes, and is really a favorite on the campus.

Misha is one of our pretty freshmen who has a lovely, friendly smile which she uses extensively. She is a fine student and has made herself very popular among her acquaintances.

An event of this type makes us more conscious of the fact that the ability to make friends, and to be a real friend, is one of the biggest assets a person can have.

Future Farmers of America

The F. F. A. is a national fraternal organization, and the members can find friends and fellows with the same interests anywhere they go. The purpose of this club is to stimulate and promote an active interest and participation in agriculture, and the enthusiasm Mr. Hinton, the director, shows in it has great influence on the boys. This club sponsored their annual Santa Claus Sweetheart Ball this year in cooperation with the Girls' Club, and it was a fine success.

College Basketball

As this book goes to press, Coach Watts' Fliers show prospects of a successful basketball season.

The first game of the season with the Army Gun-nery School from Las Vegas resulted in a victory for Dixie; the score—48-43; the second game was a defeat at the hands of our traditional rivals, the B.A.C.; the score—27-20; the third game was another Dixie victory from the St. George Firemen; the score—54-35. Then came the all important game, the game in which Dixie regained possession of the coveted "Ax" on January 29; the score—43-33. There are two more games to be played to determine who keeps the "Ax," but we have confidence in our team.

High School Basketball

The high school basketball team has done a fine job so far this year. As we go to press, they have a record of seven wins and three losses. They have made a cumulative total of 336 points, as compared to 219 points their opponents have made in a corresponding number of games.

Modern Language Clubs

The Modern Language Clubs, the El Circulo Espanol and the Deutsche Verein, offer something distinct and interesting to their members. They have as their purpose to better acquaint the students with the languages and culture of the respective people—the Spanish and the Germans.

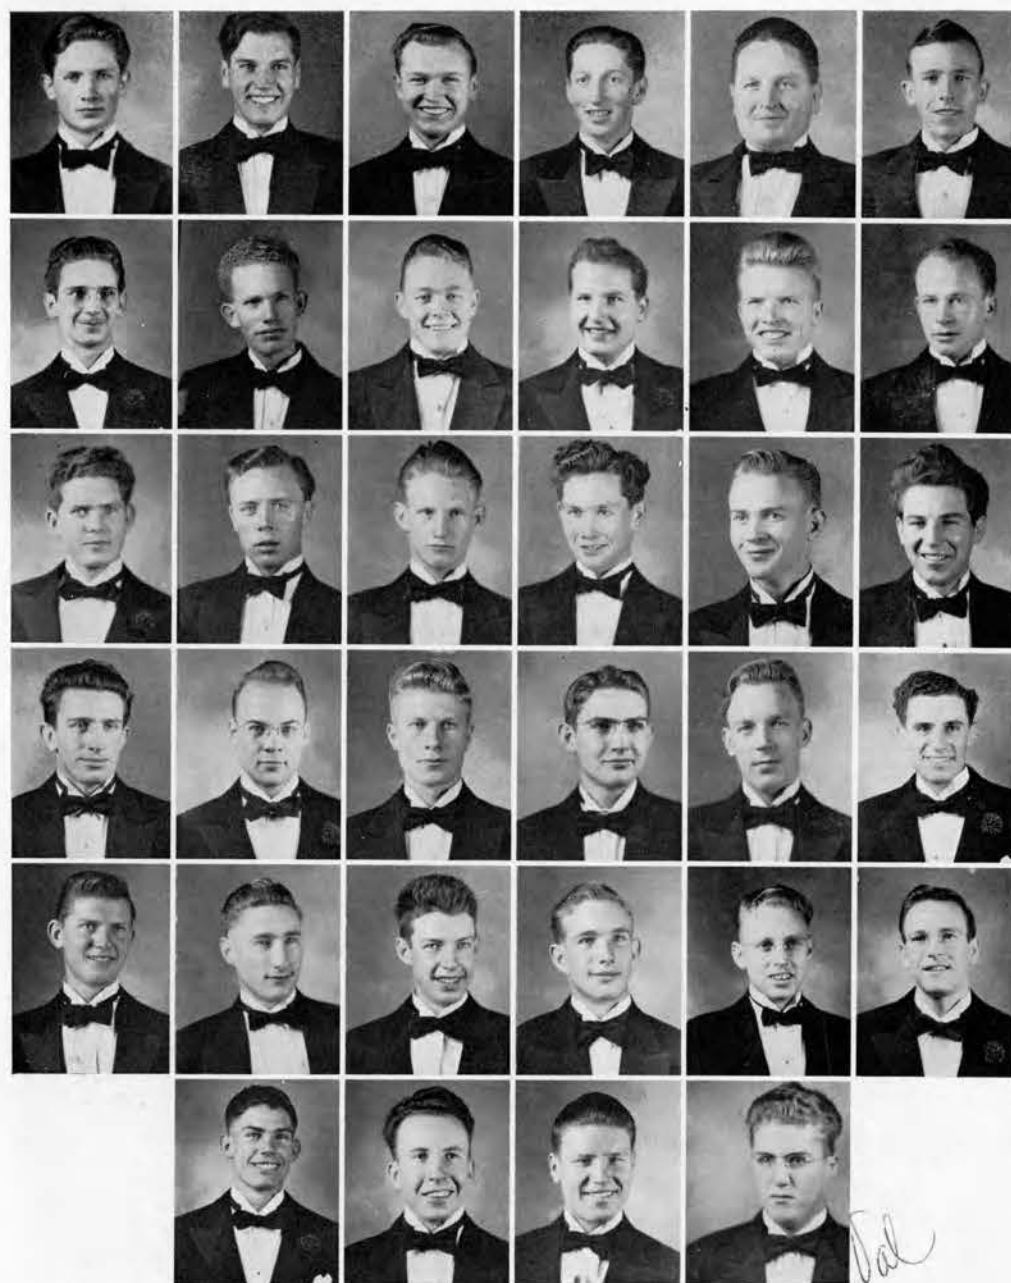

Debate Club

Debating always offers a challenge to the mind.

This year, due to travel restrictions, the teams weren't able to contact other schools; nevertheless, under the direction of Mr. Woodbury, the students have studied hard and have received training and experience by contests between members of the classes.

Vocal Music

An interest in the classic type of vocal music makes our chorus what it is. An enthusiastic group of singers under the capable direction of Mr. McAllister always results in a good chorus. Such was the case this year. Dixie College boasted of a fine group of singers and enjoyed listening to them when the opportunity arose.

The opera "Lelawala" is being prepared for production as we go to press. The names of the cast are not yet available.

Instrumental Music

The band and orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Bleak, are two of the most necessary things we have at Dixie. They can be depended upon to be on hand at all student and civic functions to add pep or culture.

Dear Mrs. Snow,
 I just want to say how much fun and enjoyment I've had at Digie. I'd like to thank you especially for the swell times and for being so good to me. You've helped me so much.
 Thanks,
 Gwen

Beaux Arts Queen

Gwen Sylvester reigned as the Spirit of the Fine Arts Festival. Throughout the days of the Festival, programs of the highest type of music and drama were presented. Mr. Bleak had a program of instrumental music, presenting a very fine display of musical talent. A program of sacred vocal music was given under the direction of Mr. McAllister. The drama "The Crisis," that was presented under the direction of Miss Henderson, was a drama of Civil War days and provided a distinct challenge to those who participated in it. To the students who participated in these programs and the ones who directed them, we extend commendation for the fine results of their efforts.

Mr. Huntsman was responsible for the outstanding display of pictures that hung in our halls during the days of the Festival. These pictures were ones that were loaned to the school by local people and the display this year proved to be as grand and even more interesting than other years, when the paintings were sent in by outside organizations.

Such events as these that were presented during the Fine Arts Festival teach us of the cultural things of life and help us to appreciate art of the finest degree.

Beaux Arts Guild

The purpose of the Beaux Arts Guild is to cultivate, in students, art appreciation. In their meeting they are taught various methods of painting and applying art to life. The fact that art is constructive and applies to all things is the foundation of the fraternity. The members show their interest in this fact by their participation in the activities of the club. The members study several types of art, branching out into leather work and air brush work with cloth.

The Fine Arts play, "The Crisis," by Winston Churchill, was presented on the third and fourth of March. Through the untiring efforts of Miss Henderson, the director, and much hard work on the part of all the members of this large cast, the presentation of this play was very successful. A drama of this calibre was decidedly a contributing factor to the success of the Fine Arts Festival.

X Club

The twelve members of this club are composed of eleven students and their advisor. The student members are chosen from the senior class and must have an average grade of a "B". They are chosen by the club members of the preceding year, primarily on the basis of scholarship and then on leadership.

The aims of the organization are to serve the college, further the aims and activities of the college, promote scholarship, and to help new students orient themselves.

An "X" Club member can be identified by his white sleeveless sweater with the large "X" on the front.

The club this past year sponsored the bond drive which proved to be very successful. A good deal of money was raised toward buying war bonds to be cashed after the war to give scholarships to the soldiers who wish to return to Dixie.

So you don't believe in reincarnation, and the old Hindu theory of being reborn upon the earth with a new body? Well, look at this and then tell me what you think. — We exposed ourselves to the Reverso Ray that took us back many centuries to the Mediterranean countries where life flourished many, many years ago, and believe it or not, this is what we saw: Little "Cupid" came flying over and we got our first photo. (If that isn't Pinky Neilson, I'll eat my hat!) In the picture below you see Venus de Milo (looks exactly like Yvonne Jackson), who is a classic example of a little girl who chewed her fingernails too much. Following from left to right, there is "The Thinker," whose name is Herb Pitchforth; then one of the "Sirens" who lure men (It's Iva Lu Johnson). "Hercules" (McCune Ott) and "Jupiter," king of the gods (one of his descendants now rules Santa Clara with an iron hand) (Gilbert Tobler), stand very solemnly paying no attention to Iva Lu, who plainly has designs on them. "Mars," the war lord (Harold Stirling), is in full chase with a determined look on his face. It must be love, 'cause there's "Gemini," the twins (Joy and June Bennett), running lightly over the fields. — Whoops! look out for that arrow!! — There is little "Pan" playing his pipe—no, it's a harp — What? You traded your pipes in 'cause they're out of style? Oh (What a Pan, that's DeWayne Anderson). Then comes Mary Pratt, the "Lion Tamer," and from the looks of things, she must wield that whip with a vengeance. "Leo" looks very subdued (It's Bob Inscore). A "Satyr" looks up as we pass, but doesn't say a thing. (It's Ross McArthur. I don't know what he is doing, but he certainly looks silly.) Look out for that arrow!! "Amazon" (Leah Crofts) is trying to pick some trouble with "Aries," the goat, (Florence Beatty) and "Tarus," the bull, (Milton Hoyt) but they have other things on their mind. — Here's the galoot that shot that arrow. It's "The Archer" (Alene Allen). What's the matter? — Oh, you never could hit anything. The next one is "Virgo" (Mary Paxman). With an angelic expression like that, what can I say? "Aquarius," the water bearer, is next in line (Phil Robison), but why is he carrying water to the fishes? Oh, I see. That is not water and that is Lynn Gates and Leslie Hafen. Wyona Barney looks on in high glee, watching the antics of the two "suckers." Next is Shirlee Snow and Eldon Stirling and—How the H — —! did they get in here?

Tennis Club

Phil Robison, President

Physical Education

The athletic program in the physical education department of both boys and girls has been expanded this year, as an essential war-time program.

Graduation requirements were increased this year, making it necessary to have three more hours of physical education. This has meant that practically all the students in the school have classes in this department.

The girls have gone through an extensive series of exercising, along with wholesome recreational activities. Also, dancing, tap and creative, was included, for which there was a lively interest among the girls.

The boys had an extensive program of wrestling and boxing, as well as strenuous exercising.

Students are agreed that these programs have aided their physical well-being to a large extent and are glad of the opportunity of participating in them.

Alpha Theta

The rose, the symbol of Alpha Theta, the home economics sorority, was adopted to stand for all things lovely and beautiful within the home. It is the aim of the girls belonging to this club to make their own homes lovely and beautiful.

Alpha Theta was organized to provide for the girl's personal development, a knowledge of how to better serve the community, and ideas on how to improve home and family life.

The association among girls with aims and standards such as are exemplified by their membership in this sorority, insures security for the future generation.

VERNELL CHAMBERLAIN

It is with sincerest appreciation that I accept this honor of being crowned "Queen of the D." It is impossible for me to express the happiness it has given me to represent the "Spirit of Old Dixie" and to typify her ideals, for I realize that in symbolizing the "D" there are many qualities that our school stands for. I hope that I may prove true to this honor.

Not only this night in ceremony, but as I, and each of you, go out into life, may we prove true to the confidence and honor extended us. I do want to live worthy of these realities, in life and forever, typifying the high ideals and standards represented in the "Spirit of Dixie."

Vernell Chamberlain

"D" Day is the day when all students "let down their hair" for a full day of fun and frolic. The festivities begin when all the students pitch in early in the morning and clean up the grounds and the "D." Programs and games and other kinds of fun follow through the entire day. A good time is had by all and a memorable day is past.

D. J. C. Staff

The D. J. C. staff, with the cooperation and support of the students and teachers, has issued a paper each week. Our school paper is a vital part of our school, adding its bit toward making school work lively and interesting.

There is a great deal of responsibility and work attached to being on such a staff, and these students should be commended for their untiring efforts and for the fine papers they have produced.

The Girls' Club was organized as a means of solving the problems of the girls as a collective body. Every girl in the school is a member of this association. The president of this organization is chosen by election; this year the president is Alene Allen and she is aided by Iva Lu Johnson and Nellie Judd.

Boys' Club

Karl Church was elected to be president of the Boys' Club, which provides opportunity for the boys to get together in a body and work out their problems. Karl is assisted by Russel Neilson, Dick Schmutz and others not pictured.

Dear Pres. Snow,

I have enjoyed very much the school days here at Dixie. I hope I may return to school here next year. I want to wish you the best of luck and happiness in the future.

Dear Pres. Snow,

I have always looked forward to being in the Dixie College - the life of Dixie. And my first year here has been a very enjoyable one for me. I have heard Creston say many nice things about you. I'm sure we all think you are an outstanding man among men.
Melba Renee Goodland.

Dear Pres. Snow,

I am glad to be here in Dixie Jr. College this year. Ernest Blackshaw told us about you and the Dixie College while we were in Nebraska. I think this has been one of my most enjoyable years in school and I think you're tops. Always a friend and student of D.J.C.

Laurence Lundin.
