Under the Dixie Sky —
A desert sky —
Adventure.
No scene, no day the same.
Each morning new — a new beginning.

Under the Dixie Sky
Piled high with clouds
There's beauty.
Vermillion red, and black, and white,
And somber tones at sunset.

Under the Dixie Sky
Of cobalt blue —
Achievement.
Canals from shadowed streams
Where pioneers have settled.

Under the Dixie Sky —
A sun swept sky —
A college.
A dream, a hope, a deed
For self, and for the others.

Under A Sun Swept Sky:

Multi-purpose building of Dixie's campus . . . the Annex.

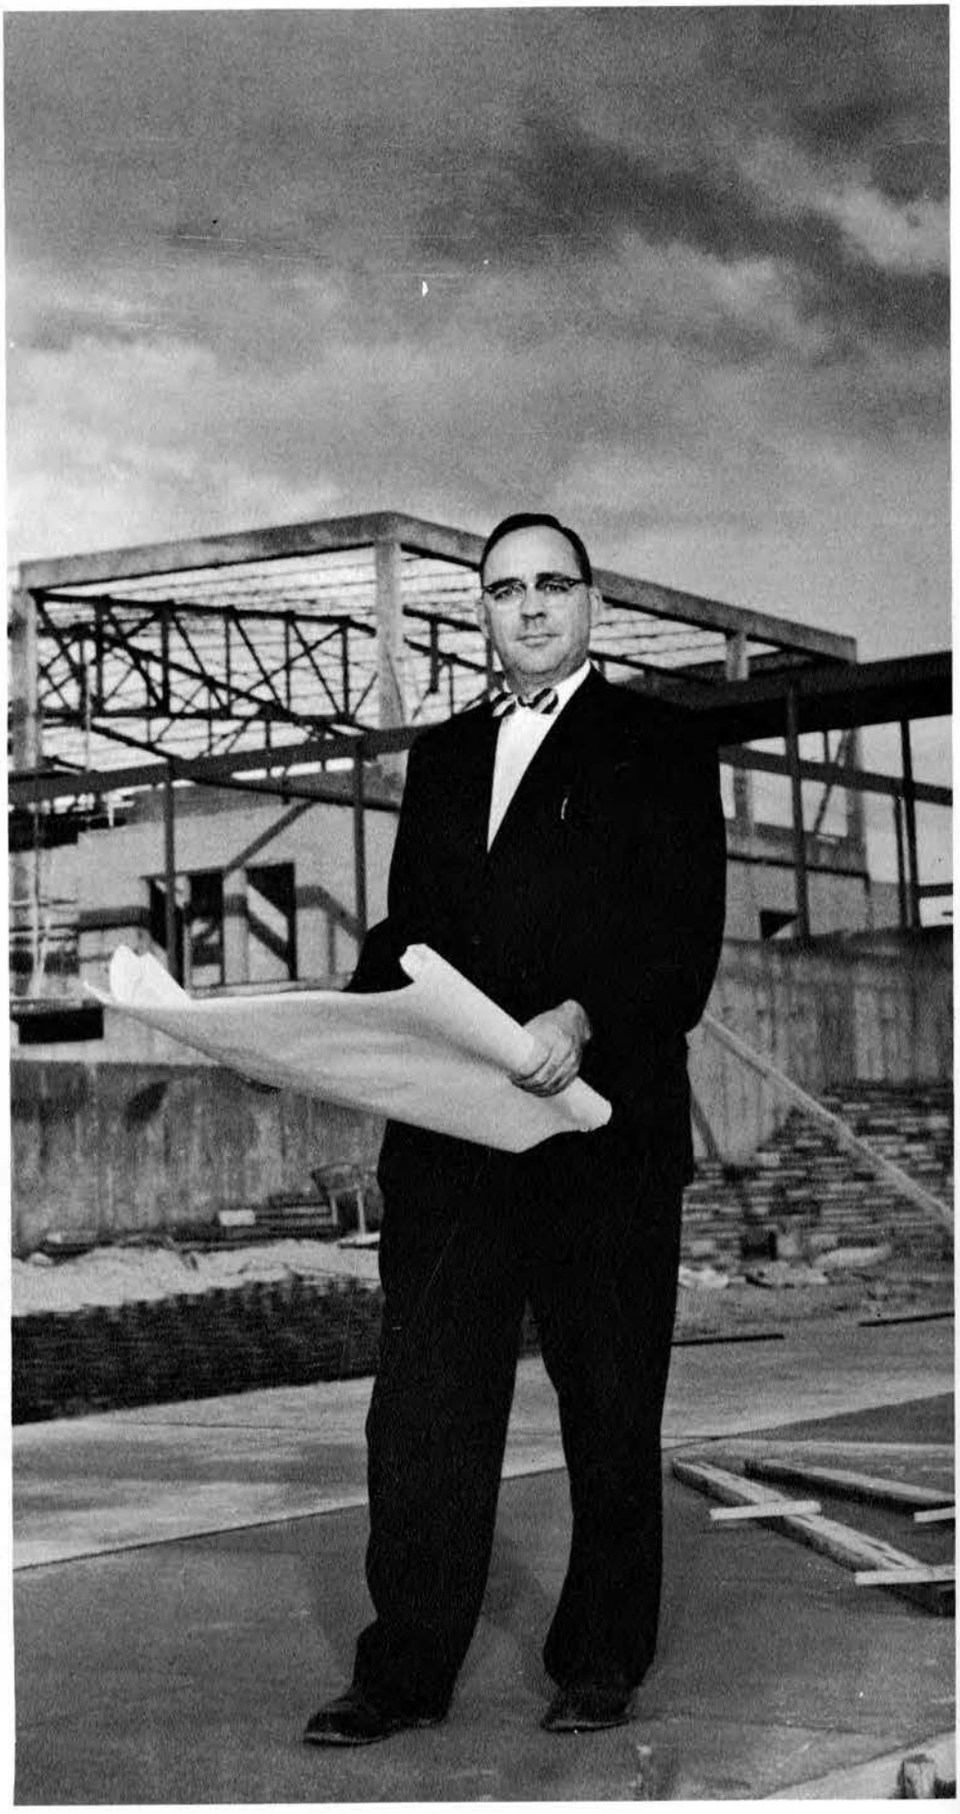

Tabernacle . . . scene of commencement activities.

Administration building . . . center of administrative activities.

New silhouettes against the Dixie sky: the fine arts building, the gym, and the heating plant. More silhouettes on paper, waiting for reality: a new science building, administration building, industrial arts and home economics building. And our old buildings held together by memories. This is where the Rebels work and play.

Faculty Influences

Here are the faces of our faculty, intelligent, friendly, and patient. Faces of people who are interested enough in our welfare to help us with our personal problems, to skillfully guide our future, to instill within us the good way of life, to teach us to dream dreams and to put a good foundation under them, and to show us the far horizons and help us in getting there.

Due to the enthusiastic leadership of LEE REBER, Student Body President, and the ingenuity of the student council, Dixie College has reached new horizons. This has been a year punctuated by many new traditions: the bicycle party, the Freshmen orientation night, and the new student body offices of historian, pep chairman, parliamentarian, and student mascot.

Campus Reflections

Autumn.

Winter. Spring

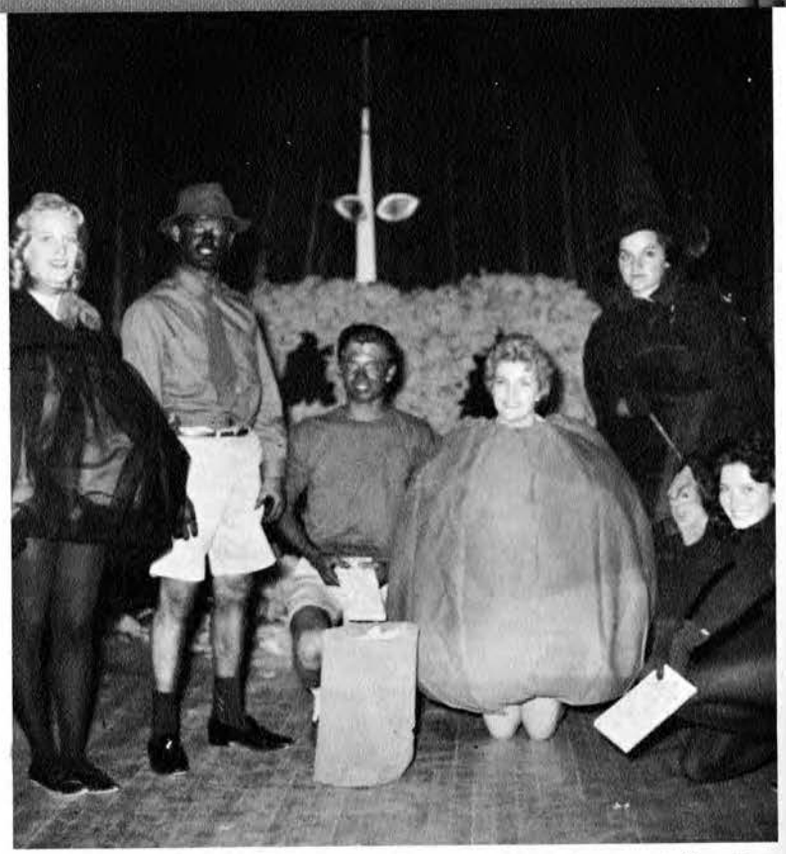

We were strangers when we first met under the falling autumn leaves; but as the days grew colder and shorter and we caught an occasional glimpse of snow, our friendships grew warmer and brighter and deeper until spring came, bringing with it new love, new ideas, and new memories. In the background of everything we did, the fun we had, and the things we accomplished, was the spirit of Dixie, symbolized by the "D" on the hill and culminated in the big bonfire before the CSU game.

Taking off on a Christmas caroling hayride party.

For frolic and fun, Dixie parties are unsurpassed . . . The AWS sponsored slumber party for girls; the bicycle party where adventurous people pedaled into the unknown; the sorghum parties after our victories over CSU; the Cottin Pickin' Carnival with its Cotton Pickin' King and Pickin' Cotton Queen; the class parties; and dorm parties . . . all provided an opportunity for students to become better acquainted with each other while having fun.

No one sleeps at an AWS pajama party.

Red Hills of November...Theme For 1960 Homecoming

The Red Hills of November, this year's Homecoming theme, brought alumni from all over the country to participate in unexcelled activities consisting of the Fieldhouse Follies, a parade followed by the Founder's Day Assembly with J. L. Bowler as guest speaker; a football game, Snow versus Dixie; and the Homecoming dance. The Rotary Club, with the theme "Pickin' Time," won the grand prize for participating in the parade. The Junior Class and Jetettes also marched away with first place honors.

Snow trampled over Dixie to win the Homecoming game.

The mortal men of the assembly drink a toast.

Juniors Win First With Best Assembly

Combining Greek mythology with Bible history, Atkin Pace and Dean Rueckert, Jr. class commissioners of amusement, ingeniously showed how women came to be. Everything from African cannibals to graceful ballerinas have appeared on the Dixie stage during our Friday assemblies. Debates and concerts have added to our cultural development while the assemblies have provided entertainment and opportunities to improve our individual talents.

Competitive High-light

Two Spaniards show how Spain solves its problems.

We are Siamese, if you please.

Mumbo, Jumbo, Gods of the Congo.

The senior competitive assembly, under the direction of commissioners of amusements Connie Sturzenegger and Martin Empey, took us to the year 1970, when earth conditions became so terrible there was "Havoc in Heaven." But heaven finally managed to solve the problem with the advent of an anonymous her — the United Nations.

Gary Tidwell instructs a school of fish.

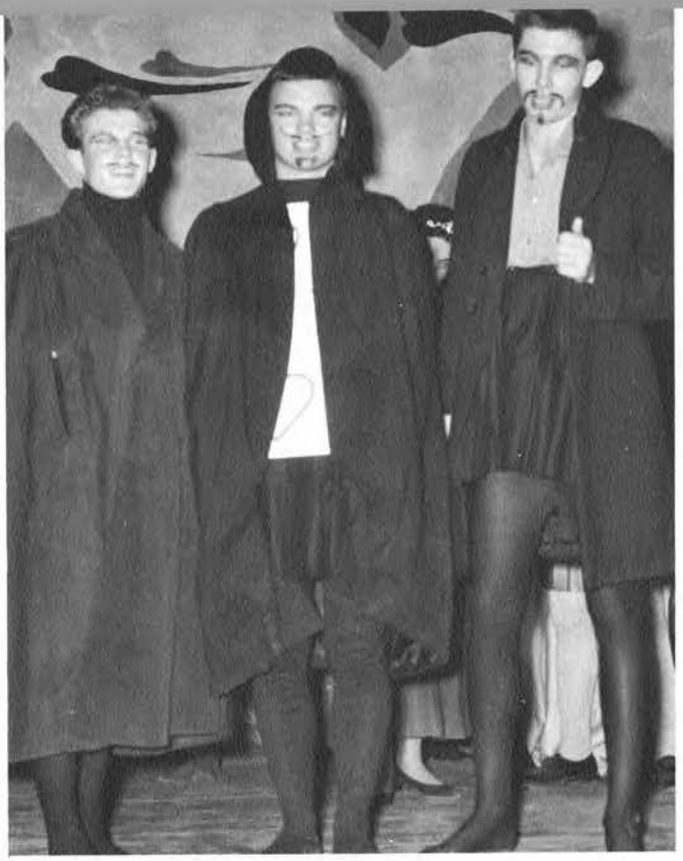

"Correl Rock Arkensea," the creation of Titine Spilsbury and Kathaleen Neilson, commissioners of amusement for the Sophomore class, was a very original and imaginative satire on integration: The town fish wouldn't associate with the eels. The eels finally gained their approval by saving them from the barracuda.

The Freshman competitive assembly, "The Queen of Hearts," written by Karen Faldmo, Marylin Hinton, and Dixie Heaton, was a musical melodrama with the theme, "You Gotta Have Heart." Despite the many conflicts, including a dragon and the criminal holding the mortgage to the castle, love conquered all and everyone lived happily ever after.

Daughters Honor Great Men

"I'm not sure this will ever beat the Charleston."

Karen Faldmo served as energetic and entertaining M. C.

"Oh, I don't know . . . I've found Gillettes to work pretty well."

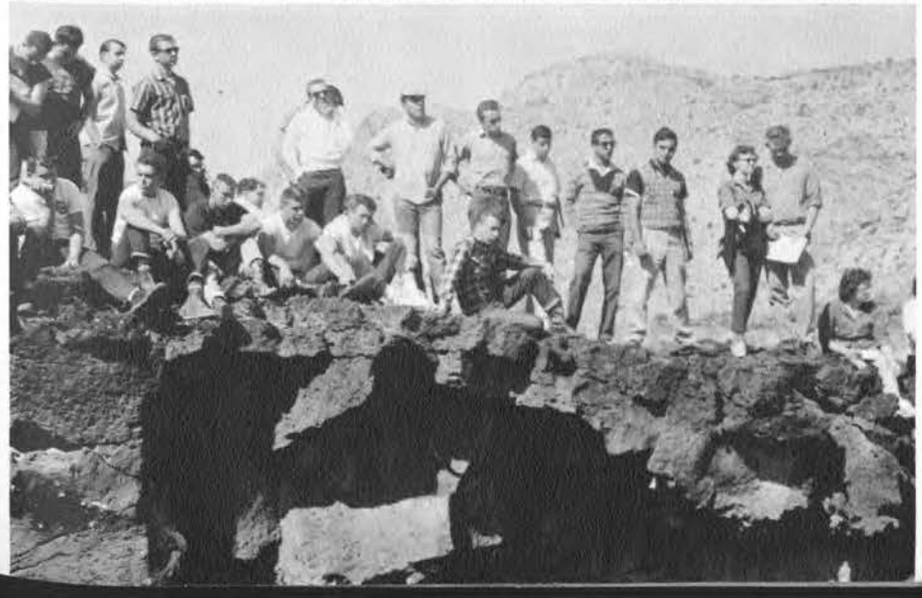

To honor great men was the purpose of the biggest date of the whole year, the traditional Dads' and Daughters' Night sponsored by the AWS Council. Fathers came from as far away as Salt Lake City and Phoenix, to be with their daughters on this very special occasion. There were dancing, refreshments and prizes for everyone.

Dr. Barnum's field trips combined fun with learning.

By actual experience these students learned the arts of surveying.

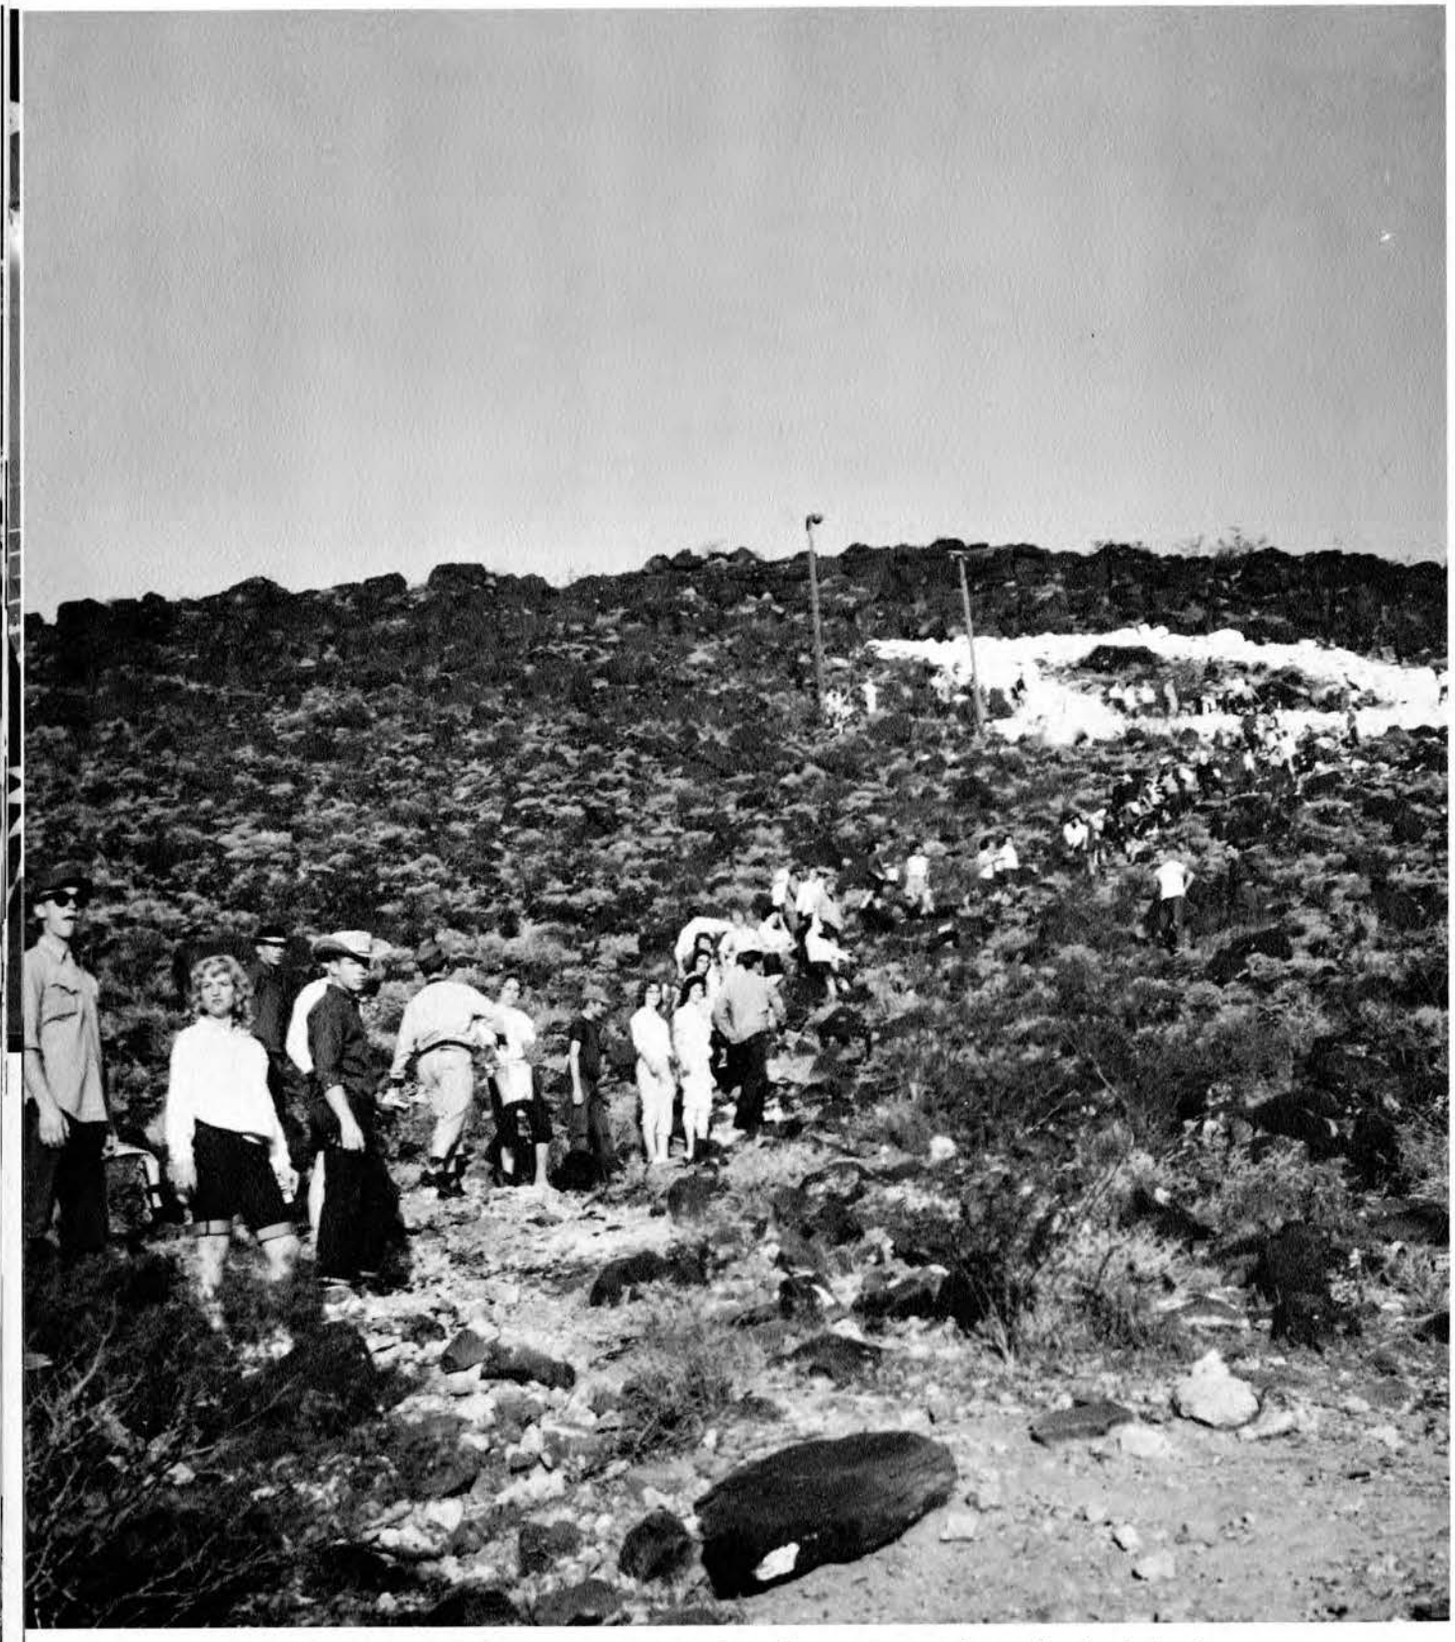

Field Trips... A Specialty At Dixie

First hand experience is often one of the very best ways to gain information about a subject. With this thought in mind, teachers at Dixie plan field trips whenever possible, enabling students to see the application of principles they have learned. Mr. Mitchell and his surveying crews, Dr. Barnum and his bird watching, Mr. McConkie and his geology trips, all help to promote better understanding.

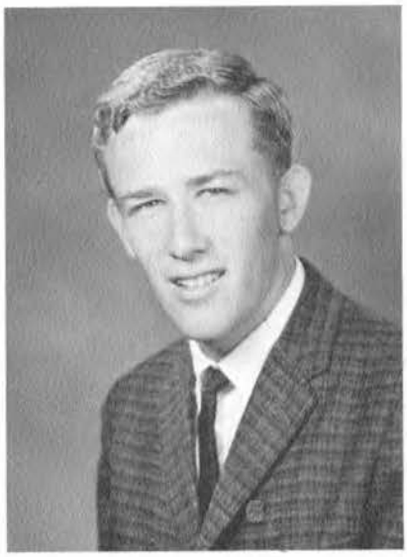

Vulcanism is a popular topic in geology.

Juniors and sophomores teamed up early in the morning to form a bucket brigade which resulted in aching muscles, but which restored also the whiteness, brightness, and spirit of the "D."

Dick Frei
General Chairman

The black hill, alive with cars racing up and down the narrow rutty road leading to the "D" . . . the cool greenness of the grass in the park . . . the sand in your food at lunchtime . . . the thrill of the parade as pretty girls ride by on hectically made floats finished barely before starting time . . . the practical jokers with their tubs full of water and their hoses . . . Rebels Have

The Rebel pig-skin pushers this year had a 3-win 4-loss conference record. For 13 of the Rebs this was their last season under the Dixie banner, including the Rebel's "Big Three," Max Jones, George Staheli, and Howard Brinton. Jones was one of the top backs in the ICAC, Brinton was a 1960 All-Conference selection, and Staheli was named All-American. This was a building year, and we lost some real heart-breakers, but we won some very important games, too, including a victory over CSU.

The Story of

The roaring Rebels seemed to be a second half club, always starting slow and then catching fire to make spectacular comebacks. The "Sorghum Lappers" lost the Axe in their first battle with CSU, and then regained it in their second encounter. In one of the most thrilling games of the season they tied Weber 75-75 and then lost 83-80 in the overtime. The ability of Ken Black, George Andrus, Max Jones, Dave Erickson, and Preston Neilson left Dixie in a solid third position.

The one word most characteristic of this year's Dixie High School Flyers was "spirit." They were ready to go and willing to fight their very best in every game. Dixie Intamurals

Leisure, recreation and relaxation, essential to well-balanced living, were obtained for those who participated in the intramural program. AMS President Clay Conway and WIA President Leona Brooks conducted well-rounded programs including volley ball, basketball, football, baseball and bowling..

Intramurals for the men kept spirits high.

Equipment installation on the stage.

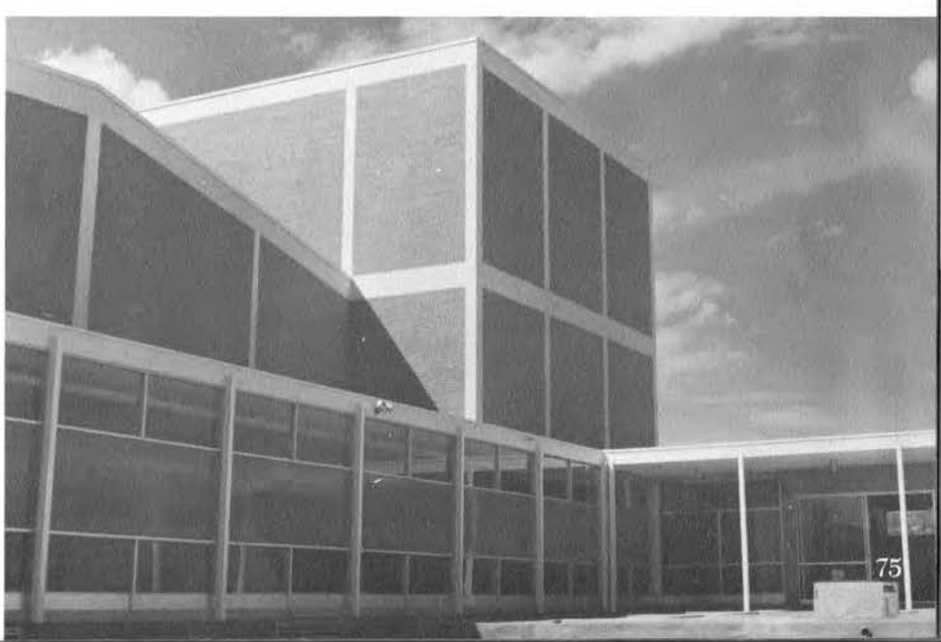

Mr. Ralph Huntsman made early design of Art Department.

The Fine Arts Building, housing three departments, music, art, and drama, was finished this year. The $800,000 split-level structure has an auditorium with a seating capacity of five hundred and twenty-nine individuals. An amphitheater at the rear of the building has been proposed. The outdoor theater could be utilized during most of the year because of the mild St. George weather.

Fine Arts Series

At the end of each quarter Art Displays were set up for everyone to enjoy.

Robert Marsteller, professional trombone and baritone soloist, was featured at Dixie College spring quarter.

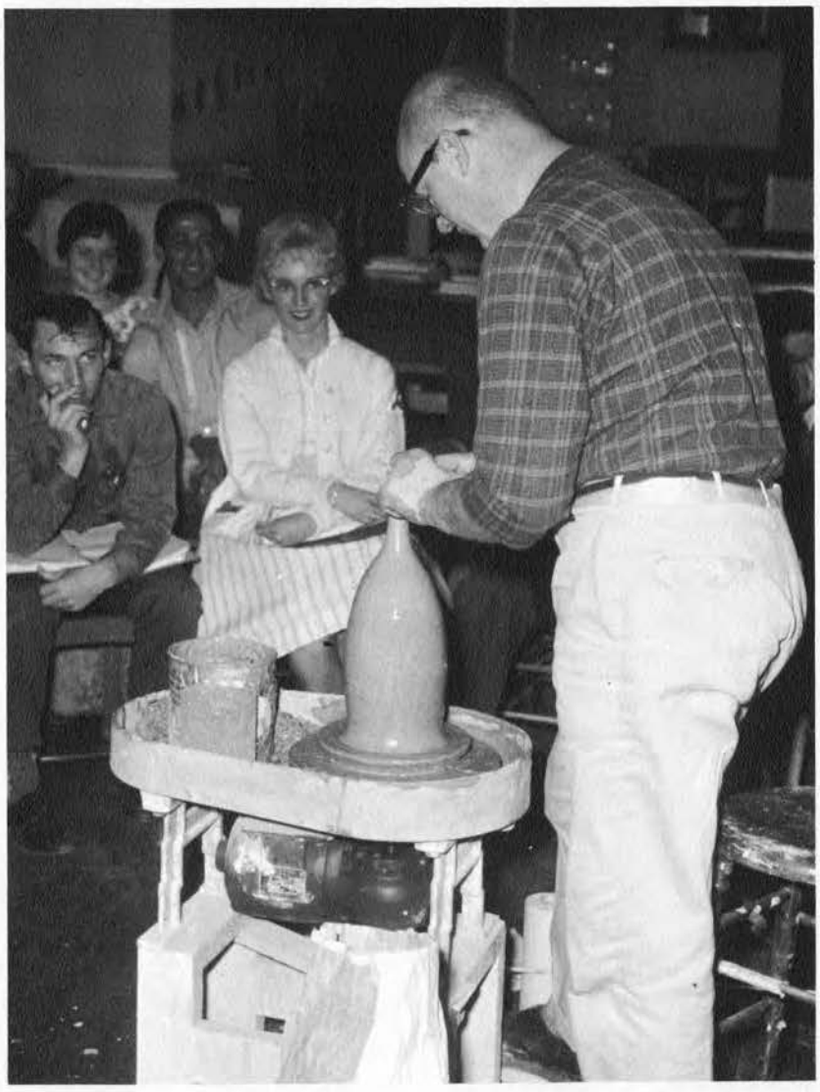

University of Utah Men's Chorus, directed by John Marlowe Nielson, performed at Dixie.

With the purpose of providing opportunities for students to develop their own special abilities and to increase their appreciation of the finer things of life, the Fine Arts Program is one of the more cultural events on the Dixie College campus. Lovely Viola Rae Ashby was selected as Fine Arts Queen to reign over Fine Arts Week.

Maurice Abravanel and the Utah Symphony Orchestra were guests at Dixie College.

Designer of the fine arts mural, Harrison Groutage demonstrated pottery-making and water coloring to eager students.

Late hours, hard work, and frustration, when deadlines had to be met.

Despite various minor difficulties like misplacing pictures, losing copy, attacks by the "paw," and developing ulcers from trying to meet deadlines, the yearbook was finally completed.

June and Laurel pondered over copy, captions, and spelling.

Ann Barnum, as Secretary and Typist, kept the typewriter clicking and spirits soaring.

Fae, talented and willing art editor, was assisted by Mr. Olsen.

The Division of Occupational Training is designed for those who wish to terminate their formal education at Dixie or as a foundation for professional training in business, home making and family life education, or trades and industries. The division, under the direction of Mr. McConkie, places emphasis on individual development.

Making plans for future careers.

Ours is an age of expansion, scientific discoveries, and advancement never before paralleled in the world's history. Science and its inventions have aided man in comfort, convenience and opportunity, and the challenge of helping one's fellow man is one which dominates the Division of Physical Sciences. This division is directed by Mr. Everett.

Mr. Everett explains as bewildered students look on.

"Confusion" is the word most representative of the Freshmen. Baffled by registration, thrilled by social experiences, and elated at the completion of Basic Communications, they have finally made the transition from high school to college. With graduation a foggy picture in the distant future, they live solely for the present. Roy Pehrson, Pres.; Dale Hunt, Vice Pres.; Pat Terry, Sec.; Dave Nielson and Dixie Heaton, Commissioners of Amusement.

The Division of Social Sciences helps prepare students to live in a satisfying and acceptable manner with their fellowmen. Here, under the direction of Mr. Larson, students learn about the different peoples and cultures of the world. Here, also, students are given a rich heritage of knowledge to help them in their associations with others.

The Humanities Division helps one to understand the thoughts of others through a study of their languages. In an age when the individual is dominated and submerged by pressures of his society, a renewed emphasis on the arts seems not only desirable but necessary. Marion J. Carefully, and with attention to every detail, plans are drawn up . . .

New Campus

. . . and at last a dream is being fulfilled.

The completion of the new magnificent Fine Arts Center changes dreams to reality of the students and faculty for Dixie College. This building, housing the Departments of Art, Drama, Music, and Speech, has been long needed by the College due to regular increases in enrollment. The community, too, was in need of the building. The gymnasium and the heating plant were completed earlier, and other new buildings will follow in rapid sequence. Students now enrolled at Dixie anticipate the complete move to the new campus before their graduation.

"Enthusiasm" is the word most representative of the Seniors. Having merged from their Junior state of insecurity, they are eager to participate in all phases of campus activities. Senior officers are Ralph Atkin, Pres.; Ruth Ann Hafen, Vice Pres.; Peggy Pitchforth, Sec.; Martin Empey and Connie Sturzenegger, Commissioners of Amusements. With anxiety concerning the future, the Senior students realize that their high school days have ended.

Social life at Dixie included more than the usual dance or show. It was more than just a date — or even a special date. Here it was a family affair as nearly every member of the student body participated in ball games, plays, and student assemblies. For those who chose, there were dances and shows, clubs and organizations, committees and councils, all combining to make social life a pleasant memory.

The Dixie spirit . . . it's reflected in the "Hi, Dixie College!" of our student body president, it's strengthened and given a spiritual flavor by the college ward; it's culminated during a Dixie - Cedar game; you can find it in the tense, brittleness of the room during exams, and in the silent expression of appreciation between friends.

Life at Dixie College is living, feeling, and thinking... it's a fresh vigorous outlook on life, a keen awareness of the world of ideas, thoughts, and events. It is a period of faith — a belief in one's own capacity to do great things and a belief in the innate goodness of mankind.

Special Students

Dixie Students make temporary sacrifices for long-range values and goals.

B. Glen Smith

Thirty-eight years of service to Dixie College ended this year with the retirement of B. Glen Smith who has held the positions of Head of Department of Education, Division Director, Dean of Men, Registrar, Counselor, instructor, coach, and President of the College for five years. He was valedictorian in high school, and on the high honor roll for his A.B. and M.A., and was honored as a member of Phi and Delta Kappa at the University of Cincinnati.

106 Years of Service Mark the Retirement of Three Dedicated Men

Mathew M. Bently, a native of St. George, will have completed thirty-five years of service to Dixie College at the close of the current school year. He has served as Treasurer during this entire period, Registrar for sixteen years, and part time instructor and book-store manager for twenty-six years. It was during his high school days, 1915, that the "D" on the Black Hill was built.

S. Ralph Huntsman

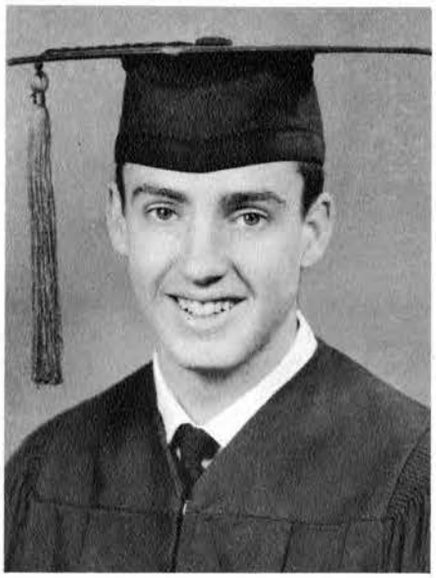

A dedicated art instructor, S. Ralph Huntsman began his teaching career at Mesquite, Nevada, in 1923. After that he taught in Virgin Valley until 1936, when he moved to Dixie. Mr. Huntsman has been a full-time art instructor at the college, where he was actively engaged in improving the Fine Arts Festival. Last June, 1960, Mr. Huntsman discontinued teaching, having served as a teacher for thirty-three years.

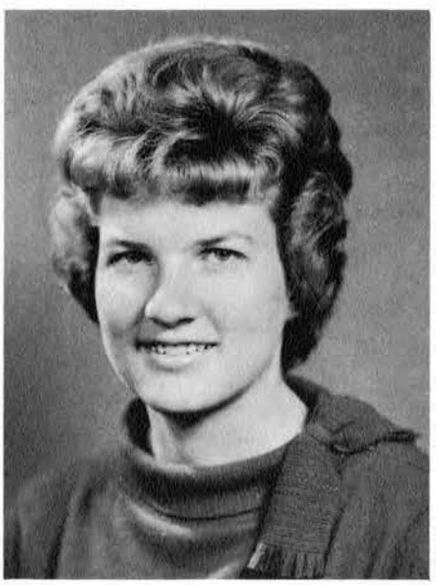

Mathew M. Bentley

In Memoriam

Wells Harrison, killed in a car accident November 27, 1960, was a 20-year-old sophomore who participated in many musical productions. Wells, noted all over campus for his dependability, was always a perfect gentleman.

Sonja Hafen, killed in a car accident December 3, 1960, was a senior at Dixie High and actively interested in music. Everyone who knew Sonja benefited from her humility and sweet unassuming spirit.

Death is the golden key that opens the palace of eternity.
—Milton
