Notes: Wilhelmina, more often known as Mina, was the oldest of nine children of Johann Georg Staheli and his wife Sophia Barbara Haberli. She was born 2 Dec 1849 in Amriswil, Switzerland. Her parents were baptized in the Church of Latter-day Saints in 1859. Wilhelmina was baptized in early 1860. Wilhelmina's family had been recruited by the LDS church to go to the United States, and were part of the Liverpool Mission. Wilhelmina sailed with her grandparents, John and Elizabeth Stalehi, from Liverpool to New York, departing 30 Mar 1860, arriving 1 May 1860. The company consisted of 594 persons. Wilhelmina's parents, brothers and sisters sailed to New York the following year.

It is not clear exactly when Wilhelmina's grandparents crossed the country to Salt Lake. Wilhelmina is listed as coming across with the rest of her family in 1861. The Swiss pioneers reached Santa Clara, in the southwest corner of Utah on 28 Nov 1861.

Wilhelmina married Charles Hildebrand in 1867. The marriage was sealed in the Endowment House on 22 May 1871. According to Lewis Lawyer, Wilhelmina did not meet her husband until the day of the marriage. According to LDS church records, their first child, Mary Elizabeth was born 26 December 1867 at Fort Thomas in the Arizona Territory. She died as an infant 4 Jun 1868, and the church records indicate that she was not blessed. She is buried in the Santa Clara City Cemetery in Santa Clara, Utah. It is not known when Wilhelmina and Charles returned to Utah. Their second daughter Rachel was born 17 May 1869 in Arizona, according to the 1880 USA census, and in Utah according to the 1900 USA census. The 1870 USA census records the family living in Santa Clara, Utah, next to her father George and her siblings.

Wilhelmina and Charles had four more children born in Utah. Namely, Emma born in 1871, Tilda in 1873, Julia in 1877, and Dora in 1879. Unhappy living under the Mormon influence, the family moved to Alhambra, California in late 1879. Their son Charles was born in 1881 in Alhambra, followed by Caroline in 1884 and Alice in 1886.

In 1900, only the youngest five children were still living at home, which was located at 34 S. Wilson Ave in Alhambra. Charles died 1 May 1909, and in 1910, only Alice was living with Wilhelmina. Wilhelmina died 2 Dec 1915, at the age of 66 years. Both she and her husband are buried in the San Gabriel Cemetery, San Gabriel, California.

Notes: According to family records, Karl Hildebrand, usually known as Charles, was born in Switzerland on 10 Aug 1839. (His headstone gives 1840 as the birth year.) He is possibly the "Carl" Hildebrand listed in the New York Passenger Lists, born about 1839, from Germany, who arrived aboard the "Antartic" on 10 Jul 1863. His age and date of immigration match those found in census records. He became a naturalized US citizen. He was among a group of immigrants brought to the United States under the direction of Mormon missionaries, and he settled in Santa Clara, Utah.

Charles was a member of the first band in Santa Clara, organized under the direction of George Staheli. Charles married his daughter Wilhelmina (Mina) Staheli, in 1867. Their first daughter, Mary Elizabeth, was born in 1876 at Fort Thomas in Arizona Territory, but died at age five months. Their second daughter Rachel was born in 1869, in Ariona or Utah. The family is found living in Santa Clara, Washington, Utah in the 1870 census. Charles was a farmer. Four more daughters, Emma, Tilda, Julia, and Dora were born in Utah.

The house shown at the right in 1998 is known as the Frederick & Anna Maria Reber Home, located at 2988-2990 Santa Clara Drive in Santa Clara. It was built in the early 1870's, probably by Charles Hildebrand, who was the first owner of the property on which the house is located. It is a two-story stucco house, built on a rock foundation. The front porch and back rooms were later additions. Charles sold it by quitclaim deed for $700.00 on 3 Feb 1879.

Unhappy with living under the Mormon influence, in 1879 the family traveled to California in wagons, with the assistance of armed guards. Charles purchased 12 acres on Wilson Avenue in Alhambra in the San Gabriel Valley. Here he built a three-room cottage for the family and planted grape vines. Their first son Charles was born in 1881 in Alhambra, followed by two more daughters, Caroline and Alice. Charles added to the residence as the family grew. He also purchased five additional acres and planted oranges. He called himself a fruit farmer in the 1900 census.

Charles died 1 May 1909 at the age of 69 years. He is buried in the San Gabriel Cemetery, along with his wife who died in 1915.
